Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. This office action is in response to the amendments filed on July 14, 2006 in which applicant amends claims 27, 33, 37 and 72 and responds to claim rejections. Claims 27-86 are pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 27-31, c33-36, 38-43, 45-76 and 78-86 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Griswold et al. (US 6,027,115) in view of Acres et al. (US 6,008,784) in view of Universal Display: FOLED Technology in further view of Business Week 2000: The Tube.

The rejection as state in office action paper no. 05022006 is maintained and incorporated herein.

Claims 32, 37, 44 and 77 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Griswold et al. (US 6,027,115) in view of Acres et al. (US 6,008,784) in view of Universal Display: FOLED Technology in view of Business Week 2000: The Tube and in further view of Fiechter et al. (US 6,743,102).

The rejection as state in office action paper no. 05022006 is maintained and incorporated herein.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed July 14, 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant alleges Griswold et al. does not disclose changing the gaming symbols because the electroluminescent display elements are fixed. Examiner agrees, however one must consider the combination in its entirety; in which case the combination of prior art would provide such a capability. The combination of Griswold, Acres, FOLED or Griswold, Acres, FOLED and Business Week 2000 would produce a device capable of "selecting from a plurality of game play indicia and indicium to display on the flexible display wherein combinations of a selected set of game play indicia including the indicium are used to display outcomes for a slot game played on the gaming machine using the reel and the flexible display... and dynamically changing the indicium displayed on the flexible display during the operation of the gaming apparatus such that the first indidium displayed at a first time on the flexible display is removed from the flexible display at a later time."

Applicant states that there is no reason to provide, "a memory adapted for storing programming instructions or information for generating the game play indicia including the indicium." Examiner respectfully disagrees. It is notoriously well known in the art to provide memory adapted for storing programming instructions for gaming devices. The device of Griswold would still need a memory device adapted for storing programming instructions on controlling the other functions of the gaming machine such as where to stop the reels.

Applicant further alleges that Acres, Universal display, and Business Week make no mention of their application to gaming and therefore the combination is invalid.

Examiner respectfully disagrees. Acres teaches a display of LED's for use on gaming machines which is sufficient to say the two are of analogous art. Universal display teaches FOLED technology for application in areas where flat panel displays have traditionally been used; furthermore, it is notoriously well known in the art to use flat panel displays for gaming applications. Finally Business week discloses The Tube, a laptop computer, which is well known for being used for gaming applications.

Applicant further requests the examiner to provide the teachings for the motivation to combine the following references. One would be motivated to combine the references for a plurality of reasons as discussed the above office action. Examiner will also provide more motivation to combine as well as teachings as requested by the applicant. One would be motivated to combine Griswold with Acres because the device of Acres allows a greater amount of symbols to be displayed as opposed to the set amount of symbols found in the reels of Griswold because increasing the amount of symbols per reel would allow casinos to provide the player with a larger jackpot amount whereby increasing player interest and excitement (Griswold, col. 1, lines 5-67 and col. 2, lines 1-11). Furthermore, the use of flat panel displays is notoriously well known in the art, however the flexible dynamic display means such as those disclosed in Universal Display and Business Week allows game designers to provide another feature for players, which is the application of dynamic display means onto mechanical reels. The use of dynamic display means as discussed above and in the Acres reference has allowed casinos to offer players high jackpots, however one would be motivated to further combine the flexible dynamic display means with the mechanical reels of Griswold in order to provide players with the charm and excitement of the traditional slow machine as discussed in Heidel (US 5,524,888) (col. 1, lines 45-70 and col. 2, lines 1-70).

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
